SHADOWS ON MY WALL

The street lights make shadows on my wall.

I used to just see Monsters,
and I was scared!

Then I thought they looked like dinosaurs.

I like dinosaurs, so I was less scared.

Once, I thought there was a real lion outside.

But it was just my cat, Cookie.

I started seeing all kinds of things in the shadows.

I saw a really fierce dragon
one night.

So I made a little friend for him.

A stylized illustration of a child sitting up in bed, watching a large yellow screen. The child is a black silhouette with white eyes, sitting on a black bed. The background is a solid blue color, and the floor is a dark purple. The yellow screen is a large, irregular shape on the left side of the image.

Another night I saw a bunch of wriggling aliens.

So I got up and wriggled around with them.

And once, on Christmas, I was sure that I saw Santa Claus!

A cartoon illustration of a boy sitting in bed, looking at a large yellow shape on the wall. The boy is a simple black silhouette with spiky hair, sitting up in a bed with a black frame. He has a slightly nervous or curious expression. The bed is on a dark purple surface. The background is a solid blue color. A large, irregular yellow shape is on the wall, resembling a piece of paper or a shadow. The shape is mostly blank, with some faint, illegible text visible. The overall style is simple and minimalist.

So now, whenever I think I see something kind of scary.

A silhouette of a boy with spiky hair sitting up in a bed. He is looking towards a large, yellow, trapezoidal shape that appears to be a projection or a screen on a blue background. The floor is a dark purple color.

I change it into something fun!
